Topazery Launches Learning Center As Guide to Vintage and Antique Jewelry

ATLANTA, GEORGIA – Topazery, one of the leading online resources for vintage and antique jewelry, has launched a “Learning Center” on its website with a goal of making the purchase and enjoyment of jewelry with a history an indulgence for virtually everyone.

The new Learning Center offers more than 30 different modules of insider information concerning vintage and antique jewelry, beginning with practical tips on how to purchase older pieces. The Center’s topics encompass a table of contents that reads like an encyclopedia of information on vintage and antique jewelry, all written in easy-to-understand, consumer-friendly prose and illustrated with detailed photography.

Interested in gemstones? The Learning Center provides information on the origin of gemstones and the great variety of options available. Wondering if a diamond has to be clear? Read about diamonds that come in a great variety of colors. Worried about whether your vintage or antique piece is authentic? Learn about the various certifications available for vintage and antique pieces. And the list goes on with each article organized topically and in bite-sized pieces. There are even modules that detail fashion trends through the years, along with romantic stories of jewelry owned by the rich and famous.

“Interest in vintage and antique jewelry is growing every year,” says Jan Walden, founder of the Topazery website, www.topazery.com. “Our goal in creating the Learning Center is to give consumers the information they need to not only make purchase decisions with confidence, but to enjoy their purchases through an appreciation of the uniqueness that can be found only in vintage and antique pieces.”

Launched in 2002, Topazery is one of the leading resources on the Internet for vintage and antique jewelry. Walden, who holds professional credentials from the Gemological Institute of America (GIA), has traveled and networked across the U.S. and internationally in creating her curated collection. Along the way, she has developed a wealth of information vital to consumers.

“Vintage and antique jewelry is unique in design and craftsmanship, and each piece comes with a story,” Walden said. “These pieces reflect the fashions of the times in which they were crafted by hand, and they carry the stories of their original owners. By accessing information in our Learning Center, people can gain a greater appreciation for the world of vintage and antique jewelry.”
